

BATWEEK IN A BOX - #ThursdayThoughts

Howdy Batty-Educators!

Bat Week partners are delighted to share this new and exciting educational tool with you! Working closely with Agents of Discovery, the Bat Week Mission is a fun and educational mobile game that uses augmented reality to learn about and celebrate the wonder of bats.

It is absolutely free to use — and it is easy to set-up for your students or visitors.

Here's How to Have Your Own
Bat Week Mission!

1. Print off the "Be A Bat Hero !" trigger card on a color OR black and white printer. You can give a set of cards to your participants OR you can place one set of cards around your classroom or site (and make the mission a scavenger hunt!).
2. Use the 1-2-3 instructions to download the Agents of Discovery App on any Android or iOS mobile device.
3. "Market" your mission site - hand out the 1-2-3 instructions, or place a flyer at your site to let your visitors know about the Bat Week mission.
4. Consider having a small reward for participants that complete the mission. A Bat Week mural coloring sheet, a bat mask — the Bat Week website has LOTS of ideas! www.BatWeek.org.

Go to www.AgentsOfDiscovery.com for more information about other mission sites near you!
